Theme of the Conference

Poor Oral health leads to pain, discomfort, sleepless nights, loss of function and self-esteem, which may affect the family life. Even Oral health may affect the personal/social life and confidence also. The significance of the Mouth as a part of our health is often overlooked and under-appreciated. Despite the scientific knowledge, there is a well-recognised gap between the medical systems and dental professionals and the delivery of dental care across society. Hence, there is a need for interprofessional education programmes which helps to close the gap, creates learning environment, where doctors from different disciplines can interact and learn to prepare for seamless teamwork of collaborative health services to the society.

The department of Shalakya Tantra, a branch of Ayurveda which deals with diseases and management of Eye, ENT, Oro-Dental & Head disorders, is serving the community since 27years. The department is well-equipped with all the diagnostic & therapeutic facilities to cater the needs of the Southern-Karnataka through the ancient system of Indian Medicine. The applications of research findings in making decisions are integral part of the evidence-based research in Ayurveda. Keeping this concept, the Department of Shalakya Tantra has undertaken number of research projects sponsored by RGUHS, JSSMVP, Govt of India and other Pharma companies. The Department has upgraded to post-graduate centre in the year 2021. This National Conference is intended to highlight the need for integrated approach in the management of oro dental disorders. As our Honourable Prime Minister Sri Narendra Modiji has said. My Vision is an integrated healthcare system that builds on the best of different traditions". Also the theme of G20-2023 hosted by India is 'Vasudaiva Kudumbakam'- One Earth, One Family, One Future, which also supports integrating different health systems rationally to work together as one

JSS Ayurveda Medical College & Hospital, Department of Postgraduate studies in Shalakya Tantra and JSS Dental College & Hospital, Mysuru, jointly organizing a One-Day National Conference "AYURDENTOCON - 2024" on 18th October 2024, in commemoration with 109th Jayanthi celebration of His Holiness Jagadguru Rajagurutilaka Dr. Sri Shivaratri Rajendra Mahaswamiji.
